Judging Criteria

All entries must be new and unpublished designs.
The designs will be judged using four main criteria:

1. Innovation and uniqueness level

How unique, innovative and creative is the design? Is it exceptional: does it open new visions in the category?

2. Aesthetic and visual design values

The first impression: How aesthetic, eye catching, appealing and outstanding is the visual design?

3. Functional and usability

Does the design make it more functional and easier to open and to use? Are the materials sustainable and environment-friendly? Does the package also feature enhanced qualities of touch, smell and other haptic features? Does the package have a second life?

4. Communication values

Does the package communicate the product benefits clearly? Does the design concept encourage interaction between the product / producer and social media? Does the package use intelligent technology, e.g. augmented reality; multi-channel information options for better consumer communication and product education?
