

Welcome to Paris - bienvenue!

We are delighted that you have accepted our invitation to this year's epda Meet & Greet and can't wait to spend time with you to talk about the human part of our business.

We all know our agencies are only as good as our talents are. We also know it is becoming more and more difficult to recruit, motivate and retain best people. That's why we decided for this Meet&Greet to focus on „people“ and invited great speakers to share their points of view on the subject. They will look at it from different angles and we believe this will inspire a lot of interesting conversations! That's why we booked some time for Q&As and “marketplace coffee breaks“ meant to facilitate discussions in smaller groups or individually.

You can find out everything you need to know about the event online at www.epda-event.com. Please note that the website includes an area where participants can learn about any last-minute announcements and changes. Use the following password to access it: M&G_peoplepower_2018
